

*They came down
out of the mountains
with the flat plain of Kwantung stretching away before them
to the horizon, unaltering and immense.*

Harbour

Paul House

Publisher: diiarts.com
Imprint: Dragon International Independent Arts
Publication Date: 14 November 2009
RRP: £15.99 (hardcover), £11.99 (paperback)
Size: 148 x 220 mm
Extent: 388 pages
ISBN: 978-1-907386-05-3 (hardcover)
978-1-907386-02-2 (paperback)
Keywords: Historical Fiction, Literary Fiction,
World War II, Pacific, Hong Kong,
Colony

Three cultures collide – the end of an Empire.

Half a world away from the Nazi menace, Hong Kong stands at the crossroads of East and West - proud colony of the Tai-Pan and the triad, of Tao-ism and traders, of the outsider and the half-caste.

But just as Britain and Europe are threatened by Hitler, so Japan is advancing relentlessly on Hong Kong. As war is declared and hostilities gather pace, this flawed, glittering society, forgotten and abandoned by its colonial masters, is turned upside down. Privilege and power, honour and chicanery, self-interest, fatalism and opportunism all collide.

As these worlds fragment, a love story emerges to defy convention and culture.

Harbour is available from www.diiarts.com and through major UK wholesalers. To contact diiarts, please call SJ Marquis on 07532 283309 or e-mail sj@diiarts.com.

Paul House was born in Germany, grew up in Singapore, was educated in England and now lives in Spain, where he is a freelance translator.

By the same author

Common Places

Trivial Pursuit

(to be published by diiarts in 2010)